DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's cancellation of claims 2, 26, and 44-49 in Paper No. 12 is acknowledged.

Election/Restrictions

2. Applicant's election without traverse of the species embodied in claims 1, 3-25, 27-43, and 50-55 in Paper No. 14 is acknowledged.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 27 and 28 are objected to because of the following informality: claim 27 depends on cancelled claim 26. Claim 28 depends on claim 27. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

- 4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
 The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
- 5. Claim 37 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 37 recites the limitation "the forming step" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- Claims 1, 3-25, 27-43, and 50-55 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kinnet (US 4,550,450 A; cited in Applicant's IDS) in view of Masini (US 5,571,203 A; cited in Applicant's IDS), Swanson et al. (US 4,042,980 A; cited in Applicant's IDS), and Chiron-Werke (DE 1164019; cited in Applicant's IDS).

As seen in Figures 1, 5, and 6, Kinnet discloses a total shoulder arthroplasty apparatus comprising a stemless humeral head (humeral component 10) for coupling to a cut humeral surface (see Figure 1). Said humeral head includes a base having a rotationally-stabilizing (see column 4, lines 40-42) base extension (fixation keel 21) protruding therefrom for impaction into a cancellous region of the cut humeral surface (see Figure 1; see entire document). Kinnett also discloses the claimed method of implanting the total shoulder arthroplasty apparatus (see columns 5-7). Although Kinnett shows the fixation keel 21 as having a slight depression (see Figure 1) and also that the fixation keel "provides increased mechanical advantages against torque and provides increased surface area of fixation" (see column 4, lines 40-42), he/she does not disclose the base extension as including a plurality of fins.

However, Masini teaches a prosthetic orthopedic device (see Figures 3-6) comprising a base extension including a plurality of fins (fins 310) in order to limit or prevent the rotational motion of the prosthetic orthopedic device relative to the anchor area/site (see column 4, lines 35-53). Masini also discloses that this plurality of fins (also referred to as anti-rotation means) "may be employed, or used in conjunction with a number of other bone-engaging orthopedic devices to prevent rotation" (see column 4, lines 51-53). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to have combined the teaching of a base extension including a plurality of fins, as taught by Masini, with the prosthetic orthopedic device of Kinnett, in order to limit or prevent the rotational motion of the prosthetic orthopedic device relative to the anchor area/site (i.e., cut humeral surface).

Kinnett does not disclose the fixation keel 21 as been linear. However, Swanson et al. and Chiron-Werke teach at least one linear fin extending from the base of the prosthetic orthopedic device in order to anchor the prosthetic orthopedic device and prevent or limit rotational motion of it relative to the anchor area/site (see Swanson et al.'s column 3, lines 3-8; see Chiron-Werke entire document). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to have combined the teaching of at least one linear fin extending from the base of the prosthetic orthopedic device, as taught by Swanson et al. and Chiron-Werke, with the prosthetic orthopedic device of Kinnett, in order to anchor the prosthetic orthopedic device and prevent or limit rotational motion of it relative to the anchor area/site (i.e., cut humeral surface).

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure: Grammont (US 5,944,757 A), Rambert et al. (FR 2 578 739 A1), Wolfgang (DE 3917285 A1), and Wolf (WO 02/17822 A1).
